

Dock

You arrive here and the book closes behind you. A path climbs away from the water.

Up to the library

Library

Two shelves burned. The four books that did not are each a place, and each of them is somewhere you can go.

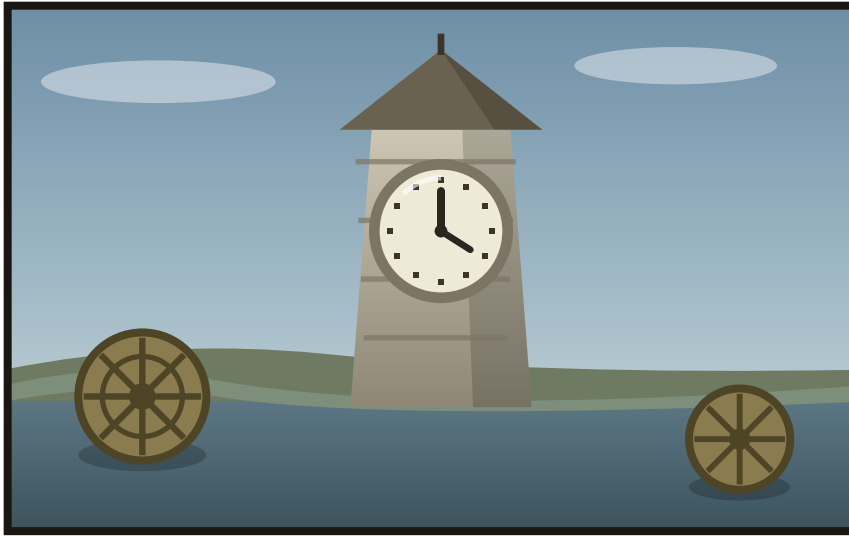

Down to the dock

The clock tower

The planetarium

The generator room

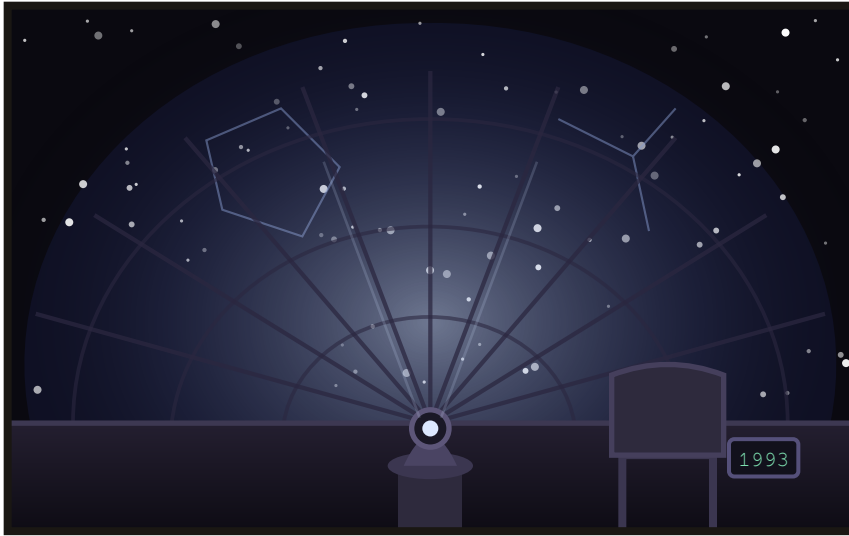

The linking books

Clock Tower

The hands answer to two brass wheels on the shore. Somebody has left them at two and two.

Back to the library

Planetarium

A dome, a dial, and a sky that will show you any date you ask it for.

Back to the library

Generator Room

Dials, breakers, and a needle that has to sit between two marks before anything else on this island works.

Back to the library

Linking Books

Four lecterns. Put your hand on the page and you are somewhere else before you have finished deciding to.

Back to the library

Channelwood

Mechanical

Selenitic

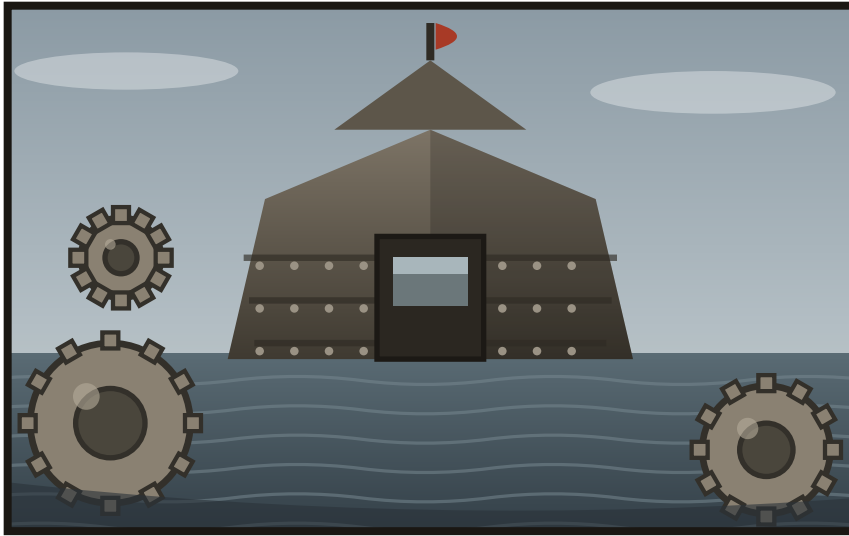

Stoneship

Channelwood

Walkways lashed between trees, over water that goes down further than the light does.

Link home

Mechanical Age

A fortress on a pivot. Turn the handle and the whole building faces somewhere new.

Link home

Selenitic Age

Craters, and five sounds carried on aërials to a room that is listening for them in the right order.

Link home

Stoneship Age

A ship in the rock, and a compass rose with a book set into it. The book is not labelled.

Link home

Open the unlabelled book

D'ni

Rock, and a long way down, a light.

The book you came through is not here, and neither is any other.